

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device is provided for distributing a fluids from different sources to different destinations. The device receives fluids from a plurality of different sources and distributes the fluids out of a port to a destination. The device also receives fluid from the destination
5 and transfers the fluid to another port out to another destination.